

I signed up for the New Jersey "Do Not Call List" last year I believe. Before I did, my phone rang constantly and it was always telemarketers. Sometimes in one day the same company would have various employees calling 3 to 4 times a day.

Now, I can actually make dinner, eat dinner and watch a television program or read without constantly being interrupted.

Having caller ID doesn't work either - you still have to get to the phone to see it's someone that you don't want to answer the phone for.

Please do not cancel this program. If it needs to be modified, then set hours that telemarketers are allowed to call and limit the number of times in one day that 1 vendor is allowed to call a residence.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.
